KING GEORGE IS PAID TRIBUTE IN SPECIAL CHURCH SERVICE

SPECIAL: By ROSE MARTEL

MORINVILLE — Last Friday the people of this 60-year-old community gathered in the St. Jean Baptiste R.C. Church and paid tribute to the late King, and prayed for Queen Elizabeth. Presiding at this solemn service was their beloved Pastor, Right Reverend Mgr. Emile Tessier, who conducted in both English and French.

At 9:45 a.m. the great bell of the carillon began tolling 56 strokes, one for each year of the King's life. Meanwhile from all directions came the congregation, Catholics, Protestants and Jews assembled under the great dome, facing a raised catafalque, where a flag-draped coffin was flanked by four long candles and a large crucifix stood at the head.

As the minutes ticked by, the tones of the great pipe organ under the direction of Rev. Mother Anna filled the entire edifice with the rendition of Saul's Death March. At 9:55 a guard of honor in Air Force uniform with black arm-bands, entered the church, followed by a group of officials of the Morinville Branch of the Canadian Legion, and took their respective places. On the stroke of ten, a procession headed by altar boys, and the venerable Pastor, dressed in his purple robes, made their way into the altar nave, draped in black and purple, followed by Mayor Arthur Sootart, members of the town and municipal councils, representatives from the Morinville school board and church trustees, who sat in the nave proper, in the altar bay seats.

Then followed a most solemn and inspiring non-denominational church service.

Opening with the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers" under the direction of Mr. Sam Logan, choir leader, this was followed by the twenty-second Psalm, read by Mgr. Tessier, who also read the scriptures in French. Then a hymn in French, "Je Mets Ma Confiance" by the congregation, after which the Right Reverend Mgr. E. Tessier delivered the following inspired eulogy:

"Your worship, Mr. Mayor, members of the municipal, civic, school and church boards, gentlemen of the Legion and of the Lions clubs, friends:

"Today, in all parts of the Commonwealth, the bells toll, peoples bow their heads in memory of a great King and a truly noble man. As I attempt, in very simple words, to pay on your behalf this public tribute to his late Majesty, King George, whom God has called to His infinite mercy, I feel confounded by the grandeur of the subject and the futility of the effort. Who has not, in the past ten days, heard again and again the unanimous praise of the King's Christian faith, his simple dignity of life, his manly virtue, his sense of duty, his courage in peace or war, in sickness or in health. For him the path of duty was the road to glory. As a great King and a truly noble man, he has indeed followed in his father's footsteps, showing a fine appreciation of all the standards of the home and duty to the throne.

"We all remember the recent testimonial of his prime minister, who said in Ottawa: 'We have truly a beloved King: in constitutional duties he was faultless, in physical and moral courage he was an example to all his peoples. This is no formal salute to royalty, but the expression of our deepest feelings.'

"A few weeks later the entire world stood still, stunned by the sudden news of the unexpected death of a truly beloved King, who passed away in his sleep, in the sanctum of his favorite country home. Indeed death came to him as a friend. Do you remember the famous Christmas quotation that stirred the world in 1939 at the outset of the great war? 'I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year: Give me a light, that I may tread safely into the unknown, and he replied: Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be better to you than light, and safer than the known way.' And the King added: 'May that Almighty hand guide and uphold us all.'

"And so with the help of God by the conspicuous integrity of his personal character, by his understanding conception of the functions of the Crown, by the royalness of his bearing and the embodiment of the typical qualities of his noble ancestors, the King won the admiration of the world, and the man won the real and lasting affection of all his subjects everywhere. And today, he leaves the British throne in all its traditional majesty, as his great-grandmother Queen Victoria left it fifty years ago.

"In a long era of peace and prosperity, she made Monarchy respectable, and in a changing world, her sons of three generations made it popular, by their simplicity and family love in private life, as well as by their dignity and majesty in all public functions.

"Alouettes" Club Meeting

ST. ALBERT—A meeting of the "Alouettes" (St. Albert W.I. Girls' Club) was held at Mrs. M. Sebzda's home on Wed., Feb. 6.

Miss Sophie Sebzda was unanimously elected as secretary of the association to report to the St. Albert W.I.

Delphine Armstrong read an article on "Care of Clothing".

Lucille Cherot conducted a contest.

The two guests at the meeting were Mrs. L. Belhumer and Mrs. H. D. Armstrong.

A delicious lunch followed the regular meeting.

The executive for the year is as follows: Joan Atkinson, president; Joyce Atkinson, vice-president; Ruth L. Armstrong, secretary-treasurer; Delphine Armstrong and Therese Belhumer, social conveners.

as Britain, she alone has survived in the battle for world conquest, and has maintained a royal line since the fifth century: all the others have exchanged the brilliance of royalty for the instability of republic democracy. Empires and emperors are things of the past: the castles in Spain have turned into fortresses. Westminster remains steadfast and resolute, an inspiration and a model of constitutional government and exalted sovereignty. Our kings rule by the consent of the people. Indeed the House of Windsor is without fear and beyond reproach, since the golden years of Victoria, and the peaceful days of Edward VII, grandfather of King George, whom we mourn today, praise with pride, and pray for with deep sorrow. May his soul rest in peace and may that mysterious link that binds the nations and races of the commonwealth, remain constant and secure, under God, and the sweet guidance of our young and noble Queen Elizabeth II, for whom we shall ever pray.

"The King is dead, long live the Queen."

One of his late Majesty's favorite hymns followed: "Abide with Me," sung by the entire congregation.

Then the Reverend Pastor, holding a lighted candle, as did all the civic representatives in the nave and officials of the Canadian Legion, led the assembly in prayer:

"Lord, have mercy upon us.

"Our father who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name; Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forbad paid their final tribute to a good man and a beloved King, and had asked God's help for the new Queen.

CYO DELEGATES ATTEND CONVENTION

ST. ALBERT—Delegates from various points throughout Alberta attended the annual C.Y.O. convention, held in the Sacred Heart Hall Feb. 16 and 17. St. Albert C.Y.O. was represented by President Paul Brodun, Secretary Delphine Armstrong and Treasurer David Ter-rault.

Immediately after the registration of the delegates, at 2 p.m. on Saturday, a report was given by each local president, outlining the main activities of his local. This was followed by group meetings to discuss deaneries. Prayer in the Church was conducted by Father Doyle, and the evening was reserved for a social.

Sunday morning Communion service was held, followed by breakfast at the Seven Seas, after which a lecture was given by Father O'Byrne.

A delicious banquet was served in the Immaculate Conception Hall followed by a social.

All the delegates left for home after spending an enjoyable and profitable time at the convention.

ST. ALBERT NEWS BRIEFS

Don't forget that the Ice Carnival will be held next Sunday, Feb. 24. The sale of tickets is going well and reports are very encouraging. The proceeds are for the skating rink.

Last Sunday the St. Albert Students presented a concert, consisting of three short comedies, which were well presented, as well as instrumental and vocal solos, recitations, tap-dancing and an exhibition of square dancing. Those who attended enjoyed the varied program and the pupils from Grada IX and up who took part deserve a good deal of credit.

August (Gus) Brodun is back from hospital after an operation following a hockey accident in which he suffered a fractured ankle. Gus will be walking on crutches for a while. This will prove a very expensive accident, as players must pay their own medical expenses.

Scout's Aims, Work, Will Be Explained

ST. ALBERT—There will be a free show on Scouts' aims and work presented in the St. Albert Community Hall, Friday, Feb. 29.

The group committee which sponsors the scouts and cubs invites all cubs, scouts, parents and friends to attend. The Scout movement will be thoroughly explained. A well-attended meeting would be encouraging to all who so far have given time to help the youngsters.

FRIDAY, February 15th, was a Day of Mourning throughout Canada, marking as it did the funeral day of His Majesty, the late King George VI.

THE NEW QUEEN, shown above in a picture taken on her visit to Edmonton last fall, has now assumed the rigorous responsibilities of the monarchy, as Elizabeth II.

Emmanuel Racine To Contest Division 5

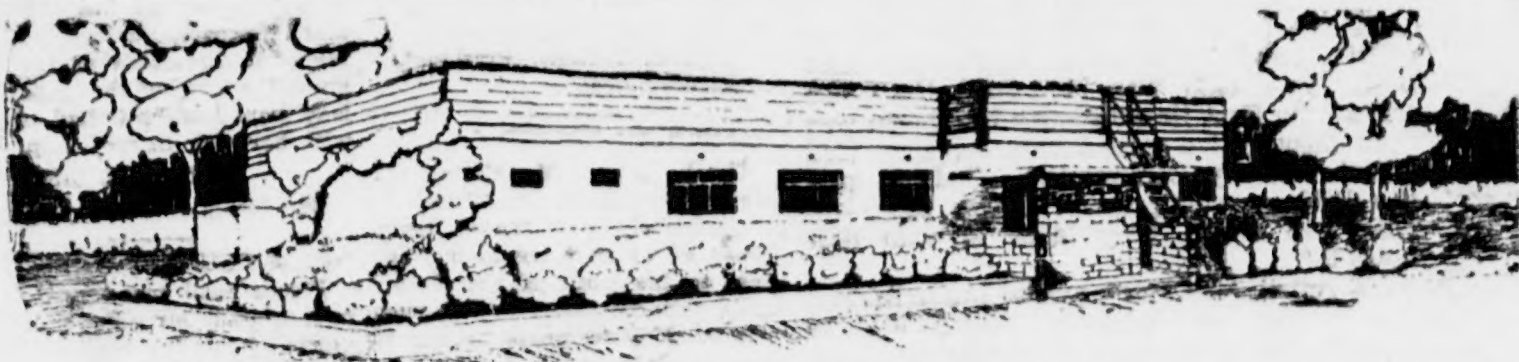

Reeve J. G. Dusseault and Emmanuel Racine were both nominated to contest council seat of Division No. 5 at the annual meeting of ratepayers last Saturday. Election will take place March 15.

In Division 2 Councillor Stanley Walker was returned to office for another three-year term by acclamation.

VIMY NEWS BRIEFS

Miss M. A. Bonnet motored to Devon to her brother's home for the week-end.

Robert Carriere is back from Calgary. He has finished his mechanics course which started in January.

The new provincial civil defence headquarters building is shown above. Located near the western outskirts of Edmonton at 146 Street, the two-storey building, of which one-and-one-half storeys are underground, is of reinforced concrete. A facade above the roof gives it a two-storey appearance. Approximately 33 feet by 84 feet, the building contains committee rooms, communication room, operations room, offices, washroom facilities, emergency kitchen and special ventilation features and is so designed that an addition can be made when necessary. The headquarters will also house the government's radio section, thus ensuring communication with all parts of the province in time of emergency.

Far Fields Not So Green

Canada's Evergreen Playground should receive a considerable boost in popularity in the future if the weatherman continues his present tricks in other parts of the continent. Those people who habitually leave Alberta for warmer fields in California must be doubting their own wisdom by this time, when reports of floods and blizzards are occupying the news columns of the newspapers.

One Edmonton citizen who fled the cold winds and frost of winter in Alberta a few weeks ago wrote home that it was "just like summer" there in California. Today he is in the area of bitterly cold weather in conditions unprepared to battle such weather. He is wishing he was back in Alberta despite its below zero temperatures where he left his fur-lined overcoat and ear muffs!

More and more Albertans will be staying home in future and spending their money in our attractive winter resorts, where they can enjoy the sports that invigorate and delight. And more and more of them will be turning their attention to the part of Canada that is more beautiful in scenery and more salubrious in climate on the Pacific coast than is California.

Wanted—More People

That Canada needs more people, few will dispute. We have vast empty spaces, even vaster spaces sparsely settled, great natural resources as yet undeveloped, a way of life that is second to none. We have so much and there are so many millions of people in the world who have so little.

Last year the largest number of immigrants in years reached our shores. Contrary to dire predictions we have absorbed these new Canadians. There has been no increase in unemployment as a result of their coming. Native-born Canadians have not lost jobs to them except in isolated instances. Instead this flow of new people to Canada has helped to develop new jobs benefitting native and new Canadians alike.

More new Canadians mean a larger domestic market for our goods. More people with more skills and ideas will help us to develop our resources and to carry the burden of overhead necessary to run the country. We have roads and railways and government ample for a much larger population than the fourteen million Canadians who live in this great land.

We must bring more and more people, suitable people, to Canada and share with them all the benefits of our nation. We must, too, do what we can to make the newcomers good, loyal Canadians in the shortest possible time.

If Canada is to fulfill her destiny, more people are needed. We must open our gates a little wider to make it possible for them to come to dwell with us.

Aerial Freight Transport

Pan American Airways recently inaugurated a freight flight from Miami to Buenos Aires, which marked a milestone in aviation history. Four automobiles were carried in that historic flight.

While the cost of transportation per unit is not known, there is no reason why it should be prohibitive to Argentine buyers. It must be remembered that only a few years ago, such freight cargo was considered highly improbable, especially for such a distance. Instead of taking weeks to deliver the cars, they are delivered in a matter of hours from the United States.

We wonder if the time will come when it will be cheaper to ship automobiles by Air Transport from Windsor and Oshawa to Edmonton. It costs roughly $1,000 to ship four automobiles from Windsor to Edmonton and it is a question of how soon Air Transport could make the 2,000-mile trip for this amount.

The Bible Today:

He that is slow to wrath is of great understanding; but he that is hasty, of spirit, exalbeth folly.—Proverbs, XIV: 29.

A New "Queen" Age

The British peoples have not been particularly fortunate through the centuries in the male ascendants to the Throne. We recall Edward VIII, who forsook his duties and his destiny for a divorcee; Edward VII, prototype of the present-day Royal play-boy, of whom King Farouk of Egypt is the current outstanding example. There was George III who lost to the British Empire the wealthy American colonies because of an unjust tax, and numerous other strong-willed or weak-willed monarchs who rate the censure of history.

The late King George VI and his father before him, George V, however, were men who wore the crown and bore the responsibilities of kingship with unswerving devotion to duty. In this not only are the British people fortunate, but the whole principle of royalty, rejected in so many parts of the world, is still held in high esteem by the peoples of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

We mourn a King who has died, and welcome a young Queen who steps into the fierce spotlight of attention. Thus begins a new age of rule by Queenship. Will it be another "golden" age when Britain masters the problems of the day, as Queen Elizabeth I mastered the troublesome King of Spain who threatened the life of the British peoples?

Absence and Fondness

From London comes the story of Tom and Ada Robinson, who say their marriage has been "one of the happiest anyone could have." Recently, Tom and Ada met each other in Waterloo Station for the first time in forty-two years.

The husband, true to English mannerisms, remarked: "Hello, love. How've you been?"

The wife has now decided to accompany Tom to South Africa where he has been living the last several decades, but both agreed their previous married life has been very happy. The fact that they had been separated for forty-two years seemed to bother neither, and they both seem satisfied with their marriage.

While such a marriage might be called somewhat extraordinary, and unnatural, it seems to provide the solution—to the problem of a happy marriage—for some people we know.

Disturbing Factor in Africa

Under the auspices of the United Nations, Libya, one of the poorest and most backward countries in North Africa, became a sovereign power. With a population of a little over a million people, Libya is about ninety per cent illiterate, according to the Manchester Guardian. As a matter of fact, only about 32,000 Libyan children go to school and the average annual income in the country has been estimated at thirty-five dollars.

Making Libya independent is a disturbing factor in the already unsettled political situation in North Africa. Libya has practically none of the usual qualifications for independence while her neighbors, much better prepared for self-government, are still under alien domination.

The status of the new independent nation will undoubtedly affect the relations between England and Egypt and between France and Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco.

Unless the Lord Build

Twice in one lifetime we have tried to build peace, both times we have failed. And both times God was kept from the peace table—the first time because the world was "too busy"; the second time because God was barred by Communism. This, despite the Bible warning that "Unless the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it."

A return to religion and to the individual freedoms of our founding fathers will make Canada strong spiritually and morally. Let's reaffirm our faith in God and our faith in the power of prayer. Then our labors will not be in vain. Let's all help by truly practicing day by day the principles of the Christian faith.

The Gladstonbury Thorn

By HAROLD WEIR

Of all the legends that have grown up around the visit of the Princess Elizabeth (now Queen Elizabeth II) to North America, the one I love best is that of the flowering thorn.

The affair of the flowering thorn took place in Washington and it was in this wise:

When Christ was pronounced dead by the Roman soldiers and taken down from the Cross, His disciples had no where to lay His body, because homeless in life, He was also homeless in death.

But one of the very few rich men among His followers, one Joseph of Arimathea, had already purchased a rock tomb for himself near Jerusalem. He offered this tomb, this cave, to contain the body of the Saviour of men.

So the dead body of Christ was laid in this tomb and firmly sealed by the Romans. But, as everyone knows, an Angel came in the night and rolled the great stone away from the tomb's opening and when the disciples came grieving, early in the morning, they found the tomb empty, because Christ had risen from the dead.

Now the tender compassion of Joseph, which had impelled him to give up his own grave to Jesus, made him blessed among men.

And tradition tells how he later went travelling and came into Britain, carrying with him the Holy Grail, the cup from which our Lord drank at the Last Supper. He came to Gladstonbury and there he thrust his thorn staff into the earth, claiming the land for Christ.

And the thorn took root and grew mightily and blossomed with sweetness.

MANY LEGENDS

Gladstonbury is rich in legends of St. Joseph of Arimathea to this day. The Grail is said to lie at the bottom of a well where those who are truly pure in heart may see it. None has seen it.

And the thorn still grows and spreads and blossoms each year at Christmastide.

It blossoms at Christmastide, except under one strange circumstance. When a member of the Royal House of Britain comes near it, legend says, it puts forth flowers whether the month be May, August or October.

Now along with the many things the Americans derived from Britain, was a cutting of Joseph's thorn from Gladstonbury.

This thorn cutting, I suppose, is an idea in the Americans' British inheritance. It is a treasure they have inherited, like Shakespeare and Magna Carta and the British principles of law which they kept, when they threw out the British, whom they said had enslaved them, and which have forever made them free.

Well, this cutting of St. Joseph's thorn grows in Washington and continues to flower normally, like the parent plant, at Christmastide.

But the day Princess Elizabeth visited in Washington, a strange thing happened, for the thorn stirred and put forth buds and when the Princess came near, it broke into blossom.

JOINT HEIRS

Now I have no notion in the world how such things happen. But it DID happen. And in some astonishing way this legend, which had its beginning with the burial of Jesus Christ, came to a new fruition in the American capital.

I don't suppose the Gladstonbury thorn has any practical value. Alongside such immensities as the Pentagon building and the Treasury, the Washington cutting must be merely a pleasant antiquity.

But it has a very great INTANGIBLE value and I am glad to see it is still behaving according to legend, even transplanted from the hallowed soil of Gladstonbury, to a plot beside the Potomac.

I am glad it acquitted itself well when the Princess came to Washington. For I think it became, at that moment, a happy and prodigious symbol.

We have been inclined to cavil lately at some of the habits of our American cousins. We have been inclined to deprecate some of the trends of their civilization.

But, if a legendary thorn in their capital, and burst into bloom, under appropriate circumstances, after all the years' that stretch from Golgotha to Truman, we may hope that they themselves shall flower when the right time comes.

It is pleasant and reassuring to realize that we share so many things with them—even the magic of the Flowering Thorn!

LETTER OF APPRECIATION

We will appreciate the use of your "Letter to the Editor" columns, to express to your readers the gratitude of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association for the fine response to the 1951 Christmas Seal campaign, which has not yet, however, achieved its objective.

Provincial returns to date stand at $167,500 leaving us still $17,500 short of the $185,000 objective. We have received $9,500 individual contributions and hope that 100,000 Albertans will have sent contributions before we close our books.

We therefore urge your readers to "send in that contribution" so that we may continue to fight TB as effectively as we have done to this point. Our death rate has been reduced 50 percent in the past five years alone, and this reduction can be continued only if all anti-TB agencies continue to spend money. It's very definitely worth it.

THANKS TO EDITOR

Thanks to you, Mr. Editor, for the good word for the Church in an editorial in a recent issue. Those of us who are giving our lives to the work of the Gospel need, and should appreciate such a boost. May we prove worthy of your confidence. And may we never be so "wise in our own conceits" as not to appreciate constructive advice.

THOSE SOAP OPERAS

The "soap operas" which clutter up our radio reception seem to have an almost uncanny hold on some people. Presumably it must be that to many humans there exists the keen desire to have a good cry, and to listen with a sympathetic ear to the woes of other people, even though they are fictitious. Certainly the many advertisers of soap and other commodities must have some basis of facts in advertising their wares in the fashion of sob stories.

We heard of a case the other day in Morinville as proof that that form of advertising does get results. Seems that one of the community's good housewives went into one of the leading merchandising emporiums and asked Monsieur for some Big Sister Soap, s'il vous plait. She knew the name of the program was "Big Sister," but she didn't know that the product that "Big Sister" advertised was not called that. However, another lady customer in the store at the time, knew the name of the soap, so the lady went home satisfied after all with her "Big Sister" soap.

BANJO DADDY, TROUPE LEADER DIES AT THE AGE OF 99 YEARS

Noah Alexander Guymon, known to thousands in Alberta as "Banjo Daddy," and who, for the past 10 years, had made his home at Seba Beach, passed away in an Edmonton hospital recently five weeks short of his centennial year.

He was born at Perey, Illinois, on March 11, 1852, one of eight children whose father served in the Civil War. Till his death, Banjo Daddy was in full possession of his faculties and had a clear and detailed recollection of all his long and adventurous life. Outstanding in his memory were meetings with Abraham Lincoln, Frank James, brother of Jesse, and Buffalo Bill Cody.

He married in 1898 and of this marriage 12 children were born. He led a nomadic life, travelling from town to town, entertaining at political rallies and religious revivals, stopping to farm here and there. Fortunately, his wife loved the life. The change in his life came when a great fire burned the settlement where they lived at Kettle River, Minnesota, in 1918. Banjo Daddy was badly burned and somewhat disheartened, then shortly after his wife contracted blood poisoning and died.

Taking two sons with him, and leaving the other children in care of relatives, he entered Canada by way of Emerson, Manitoba, in 1919, thence to Edmonton, Peace River and beyond. His intent was to farm, but by habit he brought a banjo. He stayed in the north country 10 years and came to love it well—he fished, trapped, farmed and entertained as it suited him. It was here he became known as "Banjo Daddy."

Finding living conditions rigorous for his advancing years, he came out and formed a troupe and travelled all over Alberta and part of B.C., entertaining in his unforgettable way — music and song came from his soul. However, flesh was weak, and about a decade later he settled in Seba Beach to live out his remaining years. Here at the ripe age of 90 years he cleared the back of his lot and spaded it up by hand for a garden. His garden was always beautifully kept and their bountifulness attested to a love of nature and the soil.

Throughout his long life he was a God fearing man and stored up a wealth of human philosophy. His many friends regret that his passing came before he celebrated his 100th birthday, as plans had been made to commemorate it. As far as is known he is survived by only one son, Carl of Seattle, and two daughters, Nelle of Cannon Falls, Minnesota, and Margaret of Breesee, Washington.

A.F.U. Dissatisfied With Rural Electrification

Farmers' Union of Alberta and the Alberta Federation of Agriculture requested the Government of Alberta to develop electric power as a public utility under the Alberta Power Commission rather than by private companies as at present. The two farm groups are not satisfied with the electrification program in rural points. Members of the provincial cabinet were told recently they are also strongly opposed to any export of natural gas from the province at the present time. Resolutions opposing export of gas were presented by delegates of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture and the Farmers' Union of Alberta at their annual meeting with the province's executive council.

LEGAL NEWS BRIEFS

The Grand Concert is now a thing of the past. Rev. Father Jacob and his artists presented a most successful program to a full hall last Sunday evening. Next Sunday evening some of the artists will come back for a talent program which will be organized by the members of the CHFA radio station of Edmonton, with some bingo and quiz programs. Everybody is cordially invited.

An organization meeting for curling and other ice sports was held in the parish hall last Thursday evening. A good number from the country and town were present.

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Town of Legal was held last Monday evening. A financial report of the business of the town for the past year was presented. Some discussions followed and suggestions made for further improvement, especially of the streets and sidewalks which are in a great need of improvement.

Visitors and parents of Rev. Father Langevin were at Legal last Thursday. They were Rev. Father Chailfoux, pastor of St. Vincent, Mrs. Maurice Hebert, Miss Laura Brousseau and Mr. Ernest Farand. All attended a ceremony of religious profession of a cousin, Sister Lorraine Piquette at St. Albert on Friday morning, Feb. 16.

The Legal School recently purchased a modern recorder, which will serve many and varied purposes of the school activities. It was used for the first time last Sunday evening for the recording of the program of the concert of the Legal choir.

The farmers in the south east portion of the Legal district will enjoy, in a few days, the services of rural electrification from the plan of the Bon Accord district.

Mr. Lucien L'Heureux, who owned an egg grading station here a few years ago, has been forced to abandon the business, and is moving the same building to Edmonton, where they will take up residence.

A meeting of the ladies of the parish held in the parish hall last Tuesday evening, discussed the details of the forthcoming bazaar which is to be held in the La-marche Hall on March 2 and 3. Leaders have been nominated for the various counters under the ladies' supervision.

NOTHING EQUALS GAS

The new, streamlined automatic gas range has set the new fashion note in modern appliances. It offers COOL, CLEAN, QUICK COOKING plus automatic controls that do all the cooking for you. Make your kitchen complete . . . your cooking perfect . . . see your appliance dealer today about a new, easy-to-buy natural gas range today.

No Pre-heating is Necessary in Gas Range Broiler. It's quick-searing heat starts sealing in hearty, healthful juices as soon as you turn it on. Chops, steaks and other meats are served with a crusty, luscious goodness possible only with the quick, hot, live flame of natural gas. Modern gas range broilers are smokeless too. The only broilers that are . . . for only live flame consumes food vapors. In oven cooking, a gas range is likewise far superior. It is the only oven ventilated for the fresh-air circulation that gives you vaporless baking and roasts that are not steam stewed.

MORINVILLE—The annual ratepayers' meeting of the Municipal District of Morinville was attended by almost 500 ratepayers.

Stanley M. Walker was re-elected for Electoral Division No. 2, and election will be held in Division 5 with J. G. Dusseault and Emmanuel Racine being the candidates.

The election will be held on Saturday, March 15, 1952.

Mr. Paul Chauvet, chairman of the Sturgeon School Division No.

ing education. He advised that there would be quite an increase in the budget for this year and that of course this meant that the taxes would be higher than in the previous year.

Discussion was also taken on a purebred sire area as well as on public welfare. The dollar a day hospitalization plan was thoroughly explained and the meeting approved of its continuation for an-

AW2 M'RAE ENJOYS RCAF

AW2 Mary Catherine McRae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A.
McRae of Morinville, Alta., has recently been posted to RCAF Station, Edmonton, Alta. Mary Catherine was born in Morinville and attended early school there, later coming to Edmonton where she attended St. Mary's high school.
Immediately prior to enlistment,
Mary Catherine worked at the Bank of Nova Scotia in Edmonton, but she still calls Morinville her home.

She enlisted in Edmonton in August, 1951, and took her basic training in St. Johns, Que., and later was sent to Camp Borden, Ont., for a month's contact training. After her graduation from an accounts course at Aylmer, Ont., she was transferred to RCAF Station, Edmonton where she is presently working in the station accounts section as an accounts clerk.

"I should have tried this sooner," she says of the Air Force. "I just love everything about it and the other girls are just wonderful to work with. Everyone is, for that matter, but I didn't think so many girls could get along so well together. The goodfellowship is really amazing."

PRESIDENT, CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
ADDRESSES SPECIAL MEETING

MORINVILLE — Mr. Rene Perrault, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, addressed the members of the Board of Trade at a special meeting held in the Community Hall at Morinville, Tuesday, Feb. 19. He spoke in both French and English. In his message in French, Mr. Perrault stated "that though we have an industrial and commercial program we have endeavored to retain French culture in Quebec.

In English, he said the Chamber of Commerce can do more in a small community. "The more active boards are the small ones, because the personal activity of the individual comes to the top more easily."

Following Mr. Perrault's speech, there was a period reserved for questions and answers, in which Mr. Perrault, Mr. D. Morreall, and Mr. McKay took part.

Guests at the meeting, besides the speaker, Mr. Perrault, were Mr. D. Morreall, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce
from Montreal; Don McKay, executive-secretary for Edmon-

E. R. McFarland, Lethbridge, who is vice-president for Alberta
Chamber of Commerce; D. F.
Marlett, Regina, the Alberta representative, and N. G. Evans, Edmonton, a member of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

I am eighteen years old and a sophomore in college. I never have had a date although I have had a boy friend. He has been courting me for two and a half years and just asked me to go out with him lately, but it seems that my father still thinks I am a wee baby. I think very much of this boy and he seems to think a lot of me. I feel so lonesome because my classmates and friends of my age have been going out for quite a while. Please give me some advice.

LONELY HEART.

Answer:

Your father is not only old-fashioned but is carrying out an unwise policy. Any girl of eighteen, who has been reared properly and taught the difference between right and wrong should be allowed to date nice boys.

If girls and boys are allowed to have group parties when they are younger, they become accustomed to each other and are not so taken in by the first boy or girl they date. They learn to distinguish between the good and the bad.

If this boy you wish to date has a good reputation, your father should allow you to go out with him occasionally. Just see that you come in at a reasonable hour and do not go to questionable places.

People like your father are the cause of girls meeting boys on street corners and going places on the sly. This cheapens a girl in a boy's eyes and is a dangerous habit. Try to make your father understand that you are not that kind of girl but are the kind who needs their family and home as a background for the dating they do.

LOUISA.

Farm Group Urges Roads Open All Winter

President Roy Marler of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture and Henry Young, president of the Farmers' Union of Alberta, along with Mrs. W. C. Taylor of Wainwright, president of the Farm Women's Union and James Jackson of Irma, vice-president of the FUA, have been busy at their annual meeting with the province's executive council. One of the important matters drawn to the attention of the Government by the group, was the condition of school roads. It was stated "these roads should be kept open throughout the school year." It was felt that school roads should be designed as district highways and should be constructed and maintained as such.

One evening when my brother and I were home alone, my brother thought he would play a joke on me. So he crawled out the bedroom window and ran around to the kitchen door and rapped gently three times. I hurried up and combed my hair and set a couple of chairs back in the proper places. Then I answered the door. Here it was only my brother.

About a half an hour later another rap came. Still thinking it was my brother again I said come in you old fool and quit acting so stupid. The rap came again so I got up and opened the door and there stood our neighbor.

Was I ever embarrassed!

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Answered Him

He appeared before the company officer, charged with using insulting language to his sergeant.

"Please, sir," he protested, "I was only answering a question." "What question?" snapped the officer.

"Well, sir, the sergeant said, 'What do you think I am?' and I told him."

Too Much Service

A good little girl was hurrying to school in a state of extreme agitation.

"Please, God, don't let me be late," she murmured as the school bell began to ring in the distance.

"At the moment she tripped over a stone and fell flat.

"Please, God," she exclaimed in an injured voice, as she got up and dusted herself. "I didn't say push!"

Tough Break

"I'm surprised that your mother agreed to your marrying Bill when she dislikes him so."

"Well, she said she just wants to be his mother-in-law a while."

Gallantry Pays

Housewife (sharply to tramp at the door in quest of meal): "You seem strong enough, you should be at work."

Tramp (bowing gallantly): "Might I say that you seem beautiful and charming enough to be acting for the films, yet evidently you prefer the simple life." He dined heartily.

Cutworm Control for 1951

Believe it or not, there are over 200 kinds of cutworms in Western Canada. Fortunately, only two of them are serious pests of grain crops. Control measures for one of these—the Pale Western Cutworm—are discussed here.

Cutworm Outbreaks. Dry Springs are favourable for the Pale Western Cutworm. Many areas of Western Canada experienced dry Springs in 1949 and 1950 and may be confronted with a serious outbreak of this pest in 1951.

Control Measures. Owing to its underground feeding habits, the application of chemicals (baits, sprays or dusts) for the control of the Pale Western Cutworm has little, if any, value. Furthermore, no seed or soil treatment has been found which is economically effective. Consequently, the use of suitable cultural practices is the only means of controlling this pest.

Preventing Infestations. Unfortunately, nothing practical can be done to reduce damage in a field that is heavily infested, once the crop is above ground. There are two cultural practices, however, which will prevent the Pale Western Cutworm from seriously infesting fields in 1951, but both must be used immediately. These are: (1) the thorough cultivation of summer-fallow fields during July to destroy weeds and (2) the stopping of all work on summerfallow fields by August 1st and leaving them undisturbed until mid-September. Since the cutworm moths lay their eggs only in loose earth, it is essential that the soil surface be allowed to become crusted throughout August and September. This is one practice that can be relied upon to reduce cutworm damage in 1951. Wherever possible, grain fields which were seriously damaged by cutworms this year should be summerfallowed in 1951.

For further cutworm control information see your Agricultural Representative, or write to your nearest Entomological Laboratory (Brandon, Saskatoon, Lethbridge).

After a rainy afternoon, spent indoors, last summer, I asked the five children what they would like for supper. My nephew, of 4½ years spoke up saying, "Oh! Anything!" Quickly my six-year-old daughter replied, "No! We had that last night."

Special Service

give our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us; And lead us not into temptation, But deliver us from evil. Amen.

"O, merciful God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, Who is resurrection and the life; in Whom whosoever believeth shall live, though he die; and whosoever liveth and believeth in Him, shall not die eternally; we humbly beseech Thee to raise us from the death of sin unto the life of Thy divine grace; that when we shall depart this life, we may rest in Him, and that, at the general resurrection, in the last day, we may be found acceptable in Thy sight, and receive that blessing which Thy well-beloved son shall then pronounce to all that love and fear Thee, saying: Come ye blessed children of my Father, receive the kingdom prepared for you from the beginning of the world.

"O, God, who shieldest by Thy power all who hope in Thee, help our men and boys in the active service, preserve them from all dangers of battle, help them with the graces they most need, and grant that they may be brought home safely to their families and friends.

"O, God, from Whom are given holy desires, right counsels and just works, grant unto Thy servants that peace which the world cannot give, that our hearts being given to the keeping of Thy commandments, and that fear of enemies being removed, our days by Thy protection may be peaceful. O, Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, guide, we beseech Thee, the nations of the earth into the way of truth and justice, establish among them that peace which is the fruit of righteousness, that Thy Kingdom may come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in Heaven. We pray Thee, O God of might, wisdom and justice, through Whom authority is rightly administered, that Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth may be enabled by Thy protection to discharge her duties with honesty and ability for Thy eternal glory, through Our Lord Jesus Christ, Amen."

After two minutes of silence and meditation, the final anthem was this Doxology:

Holy God, we praise Thy name. Lord of All, we bow before Thee.

All on earth, Thy sceptre claim, All in Heaven above adore Thee. Infinite Thy vast domain, Everlasting is Thy reign.

As the mournful tones of the Death March swelled and fell, slowly and quietly the dignitaries filed out, followed by the guard of honor. And through the black-draped portals of this great place of worship, a mixed congregation, mournful and respectful of the occasion,

Few people have ever penetrated the woods of Labrador to see North America's second largest waterfall, Grand Falls of the Hamilton River.
